THE SAME OLD DISEASE.

The primary law may have been novel enough, so far as this state is concerned, but it wasn't novel enough to bring out the vote. Looking up the various precincts, it is seen that there is an average discrepancy of something like 40 per cent between the vote cast at the primary election and the registration for that election.

It is difficult to explain this apathy on the part of the voter, unless it is due to the same cause as prompts the business and professional man to stay away from the ward meetings under the old system, and permit the hoi polloi to capture the works—with the result that after the delegates are chosen to the party convention an awful howl goes up that the heelers and log-rollers are in the saddle again.

There seems to be no remedy for this sort of thing. Publicists and political writers have diatribed on this subject as long as we have had the system, without result. The man who doesn't want to take time to vote can't be made to do it, and that settles it. But it would seem that a privilege that is the very corner-stone of our institutions, which provides the only means by which we can correct existing evils and secure needed reforms, would be regarded as a treat to exercise.

One thing certain about the primary election is that it doesn't always afford a criterion by which to judge the standing of a candidate in a precinct. This was illustrated in a certain precinct in this county. This precinct had a candidate on the Democratic ticket which it was anxious to see nominated. So Republicans and Democrats alike voted almost solidly for him. And yet there was a Republican candidate (resident in another part of the county) who would have polled almost same vote had it been permitted to vote on more than one ticket. As it was, the latter's vote was insignificant, whereas on election day in November he will get three-fourths of the vote of the precinct.

The snubbing of Senator Lorimer by Colonel Roosevelt may be taken as indicating there is such a thing as a political conscience awakening. It is time the political juggler and the political grafter—even though he wears no stripes and may never do so—was snubbed and was made to understand that in the field of morality he occupies a lower position than the housebreaker or the scarlet woman. Mr. Lorimer avers that he was not concerned in bribing legislators for his election; that if there was such bribing he was totally unaware of it at the time. This defense par-takes of the embezzler who insists that he was hypnotized or that of the murderer who pleads somnambulism. If Mr. Lorimer knew nothing of all that bribery, he must go on record as possessing the greatest bunch of self-sacrificing friends ever known in American politics.

Senator Oddie—his only "crime" is honest, honorable, dignified poverty, entailed by extensive mining operations, some of which turned out unsuccessfully, or in which reward is still deferred. But none of the hundreds of men who have worked for him have anything but praise for his sterling qualities and "square dealing," as well as his intrepid determination and earnestness of purpose.

If Dr. Cook is really on his way to Etah to secure his records and make good, there is hope for every other member of the "Down and Out" club.

The fact that Senator Nixon polled the highest vote of any candidate on the Republican ticket would indicate the outlook is pretty good for party harmony in November.

A woman's argument reminds a man of the way she pins her clothes on.

"Paid in Full," the attraction at the Nevada theater last evening, as presented by the Redmond stock company, proved an excellent drawing card; in fact it is one of the best plays in the repertoire of this company. The troop has been playing to crowded houses each night since their arrival here, and indications point to the attendance for the remaining three nights keeping up to the standard. Last evening each member of the cast was the recipient of well-earned applause, while of course the appreciation of the efforts of Miss Beth Taylor and Kennan Cripps was shown time and again. Tonight the attraction will be "Are You a Mason?" and according to the advance sale of seats, the house will be crowded. The play is one that has never failed to please and for many seasons was only presented by the leading companies. "The House of a Thousand Candles" will be presented tomorrow evening.

All Voters Must Register for Forthcoming General Election

The great register for the general elections to be held on November 8 will close on October 21 and those who have not registered at that time will be deprived of the privilege of voting at the fall election. Many persons have inferred that the fact of their having registered for the recent primary election or having been on the great register before the last general election would entitle them to vote this fall, but such is not the case. Every voter, no matter where he lives or what registry book or books he has signed in the past, must have his name entered on the great register before October 21, if he would vote at the general election this fall.
